BROOMHANDLE OPPOSES JAKE SANDERS;
MISS MARCONI SHOULD SCORE AT UNION

Baker Colt May Win From
Smathers Entry in Feature
Event Over Fair Grounds
Track—Our Little's Chances.

It will be a case of a St. Louis colt against a Memphis 3-year-old of the Baker stable at the Metropolitan track, when Broomhandle and Jake Sanders will meet in the feature event of the Fair Grounds today. And, regardless of the good showing made by Sanders yesterday, it seems as if the local favorite will have the better chance of carrying off first money.

Although Jake Sanders won from Dishabille in the final drive of their race yesterday, standing off the rush of the Belmont filly, who is considered about the best muddler ever shown here, it seems as if he will have a harder struggle in the feature over one mile of ground today.

Broomhandle does not continue even a muddler track, but he can run in almost any sort of going and appears capable of beating his field in the fourth event. With but six pounds up today, he should improve over his race in the feature, where the track of setting the pace seemed to be him, which he was ready to straighten out for some.

Jake Sanders ought certainly to be second. And the gray Tuba Zee seems capable of getting third money, considering the fact that he has been shown as a muddler track, but he can run in almost any sort of going and appears capable of beating his field in the fourth event. With but six pounds up today, he should improve over his race in the feature, where the track of setting the pace seemed to be him, which he was ready to straighten out for some.

Downpour of Rain Threatened
Candidates in Second Race at Fair Grounds.

Despite a track which resembled a mud-puddle, a good crowd turned out to witness the racing at the Fair Grounds yesterday, and saw three favorites win in easy fashion.

However, despite adverse conditions, the first race was won by Sanders, who was held an equal favorite with Broomhandle and Jake Sanders. The race was won by Sanders, who was held an equal favorite with Broomhandle and Jake Sanders.

Course.

The feature race at the Union course this afternoon will be a five-furlong race, in which some of the best colts in the city will race. There are fourteen entries, but as some of the horses are not partial to mud, there will, no doubt, be some scratches.

On her past performances, Miss Marconi should win a romp. This filly will like the mud track, but she will race the starter. There are fourteen entries, but as some of the horses are not partial to mud, there will, no doubt, be some scratches.
